ALUMNUS

October 1974

FIRST CLASS MAIL

DR. JOHN W. O'BRIEN,

On Concordia

Q. Concordia University came into being officially at the end of August. What does this really mean?

A. It means first of all that the two founding institutions no longer have separate legal existence. Students are students of Concordia University; faculty and staff are employed by Concordia University. Of course that university is, itself, composed of many parts. For instance, there are five Faculties, operating on the two campuses: the two University Faculties which operate at both Loyola and Sir George Williams, Engineering and Commerce and Administration; the Sir George Williams Faculty of Arts, the Sir George Williams Faculty of Science, and the Loyola Faculty of Arts and Science. In addition we have agreed to create a University Faculty of Fine Arts; it will operate on both campuses.

Q. Apart from the Faculty of Fine Arts, this structure is not new. What would you say is new?

A. Being now both in law and in fact a single institution, we can get on with the job of making the most out of our considerable resources. Many university appointments have been announced, and the related administrative relationships are being actively developed. The process of welding together our separate practices and procedures is also going ahead. We've already got used to working with a single Board and a single Senate.

Q. But what difference will the students notice?

A. Government approval came far too late for anything to be done about coordinating the 1974-75 academic programs. Students are enrolled on one campus or the other. The existing policies and regulations of each campus hold until they are replaced by agreed upon Concordia policies; students who are interested in this aspect of university life should certainly notice a lot going on. We are moving towards a much wider range of educational choices. There's a general trend to an interdisciplinary approach to learning, and we will certainly combine this with an inter-campus approach. But it's all going to take time. You can't reorganize programs or offer new programs overnight. In fact the more flexibility you introduce into a program, the greater and more careful planning it requires.

Q. Then what about next year?

A. The Faculties are working on their plans, and what I've heard sounds interesting. But I gather you're going to ask the Deans to comment on how they see their particular Faculties developing, and I'd prefer to leave it to them to report on plans and progress.

Q. What about the area of athletics, student services, joint use of facilities, shared activities?

A. The Board of Governors set up a task force some time ago to look into this general area, and it still has to report back. You need to make a careful inventory of all resources, physical and financial, and how they are being used, before you can consider their integration. If you move too quickly, you can end up with one great mess and a lot of disappointed people. While today's students may feel it's taking a long time, the university has to plan realistically for the long run.

Dr. J.W. O'Brien
Rector and Vice-Chancellor
Concordia University

Dear Dr. O'Brien:

On behalf of the Executive and Directors of the Loyola Alumni Association we extend sincere congratulations on your appointment as Rector and Vice-Chancellor of Concordia.

We would like to believe we can contribute to the continued development of the new Concordia and we wish to assure you our enthusiastic cooperation and assistance.

The Alumni Association has many talented members and we can assure you that they are very anxious to assist Concordia in any way possible.

Yours truly,
Ronald H. Boucher
President, Loyola Alumni

Graham Appointed

Rev. Aloysius Graham, S.J., Dean of Science at Loyola since 1967, has been appointed Acting Principal of Loyola campus, Concordia University, and a member of the Rector's cabinet.

The announcement of Father's appointment was made last month by Concordia Rector and Vice-Chancellor, John W. O'Brien on behalf of the Executive Committee of the Board of Governors. Dr. O'Brien says that Father Graham will hold these posts until the report of the Search Committee which is now at work has been received. The Board of Governors will then make a permanent appointment to the position of Vice-Rector and Principal of the Loyola campus.

Father Graham has been teaching in the Chemistry Department at Loyola since 1952. He became Associate Dean of Science in 1963 and Dean in 1967. In addition to being head of the Science Faculty, he has been a member, chairman, and secretary of several committees including the Senate and its Executive Committee, the Board of Trustees, the Board of Consultors of the Rector (President), the Finance Committee and the Academic Standing Committee.

Father Graham holds a M.A. in Honours Chemistry from the University of Toronto. He also has a Licentiate of Sacred Theology (Gregorian). He studied at the Universidad Javeriana, Bogota, Columbia from 1944-48. Father is trilingual, fluent in English, French and Spanish.

Q. Are there any arrangements for travel between the two campuses?

A. Again, they're under study.

Q. I've heard a lot of students express concern about what degree they will receive. Would you care to comment on this question?

A. Let's deal first with convocation this fall. The students who receive their degrees will have completed all their studies at either Loyola or Sir George Williams University. So we've made arrangements for the Loyola degrees to be awarded by the Université de Montréal as in the past. At Sir George Williams we've come up with a formula which has Sir George Williams University degrees, so named, awarded by Concordia University. As to the future, we're studying the situation—that sounds repetitious. I'm quite sure though that all degrees will be awarded by Concordia University. The question is the nature of the reference to the Faculty or campus where they are earned.

Q. What arrangements will be made for the actual convocations?

A. There will be convocations in November for both Loyola and Sir George Williams, the former at the Loyola campus, the latter at Place des Arts. Next June we will have what may be considered the first real Concordia convocation, or rather series of convocations, because it clearly won't be possible to graduate all the students involved at the same time. I expect that a task force to work on the various aspects of this undertaking—time, place, number, ceremonial, etc.—will be set up very soon, and that it will seek the advice and opinions of the Concordia community as a whole.

Q. In general, Dr. O'Brien, what do you think about the future?

A. I would say we're entering a period of great opportunity. If you use the full-time-equivalent measure—which is roughly treating three part-time students as one full-time student—we're one of the three largest universities in Quebec. Montréal with Hautes Etudes Commerciales and Polytechnique comes to about 19,500 students, ourselves and McGill to over 16,000 each. If you think of the different programs and courses being given on the two campuses there's a tremendous range of interests and activities. And we have the advantages of having two campuses, so we don't have to live with the problems of a very large operation in one place. So we should have both the flexibility to meet the needs of today's students and the imagination to prepare for those of tomorrow's. We have to be ready to question what we're doing, yet not throw something out just because it's being questioned.

A university worthy of the name should be able and willing to use its collective brains to create a better university. And that's the challenge we've accepted.

Famed Shakespeare Company at Loyola

The world-famous ROYAL SHAKESPEARE COMPANY will be in Montréal for two days only, to present the original productions "The Hollow Crown" and "Pleasure and Repentance" in the F.C. Smith Auditorium of Concordia University's Loyola Campus, October 21st and 22nd.

The productions are being sponsored by Drama Loyola of the Faculty of Fine Arts, Concordia University, in conjunction with the Touring Office of the Canada Council.

On Monday, October 21st, at 8:30 p.m., the curtain will rise on "THE HOLLOW CROWN" a collection of readings 'by and about the kings and queens of England', devised and directed by John Barton. The production stars Richard Todd, Prunella Scales, Hugh Sullivan and Clifford Rose, with songs, guitar and lute by Martin Best. "The Hollow Crown" is a 'unique anthology' composed of letters, speeches, poems, songs and music by and about the rulers of England from Anglo-Saxon times to the Victorian era. It is set against a background of the simplest design, allowing the content to set the scene through its historical and artistic sense of realism.

According to Richard Coe, of the Washington Post, "The Hollow Crown is a provocative example of how wit may anchor a civilization". Michael Billington, Drama critic for The Guardian, in London, says it is "one of the great delights of modern theatre".

"PLEASURE AND REPENTANCE" will be presented in a matinee performance at 2:30 p.m. and in an evening performance at 8:30 p.m., Tuesday, October 22nd. Devised and directed by Terry Hands, the review stars Richard Todd, Prunella Scales and Hugh Sullivan, with songs, guitar and lute by Martin Best. "Pleasure and Repentance" is a "lighthearted look at love in readings and song", beginning and ending with Sir Walter Raleigh's 'A Description of Love'.

Richard Todd

The production utilizes traditional songs and ballads as well as music from the Rolling Stones. Readings from the Book of Genesis along with the works of Tennyson, Byron, Keats, John Donne, Charles Dickens, Thomas Hardy, e.e. cummings and D.H. Lawrence provide differing views of the subject matter.

The ROYAL SHAKESPEARE COMPANY will be in Canada for six weeks, from September 15 until October 26, offering 381 performances in 20 cities in five provinces. Their only appearance in Québec will be on the Loyola Campus.

Hall of Fame Chairman Appointed

Dr. Larry Boyle, Associate Dean of Commerce, Loyola campus, Concordia University, has been chosen Chairman of the College's Sports Hall of Fame by the Alumni Association's Board of Directors. Dr. Boyle's appointment was effective August 27, 1974 and his term of office will be two to four years.

The Chairman of the Sports Hall of Fame is chosen from among Loyola alumni and one of his duties is to form a Selection Committee made up of sports media personnel, to accept and study nominations to the Hall of Fame.

The Loyola Sports Hall of Fame was initiated in 1967 to honor Loyola students, past and present, college and high school, who have distinguished themselves by their athletic achievements. Since its institution, 30 players, coaches and administrators have been elected members.

Golf Results

One hundred and seven Alumni and friends turned out to play in the 1974 Golf Tournament held September 11 at the Royal Montreal Golf Club. Cocktails, roast beef dinner and the Special Fund Drawing ended the day's activities. Cash prizes from $3000 to $100 were awarded to 13 persons. Distributors of winning tickets received 10 per cent of the prizes. Tournament chairman, Bob Leclerc and Committee member, Gary Brown, awarded the prizes and trophies.

Ron Boucher, Jim Wilson and Andy O'Brien drawing the winner of the Special Fund $500 prize. Jim Wilson was the largest distributor of Special Fund Tickets.
